September 10, 2001, changed the nation but many of the issues and concerns that we faced before that unforgettable day are still critically important. We do now have an increased awareness about national security and the challenges ahead to keep our families and communities safe in a changing world.

Yet, we cannot forget that our children still need a quality education to reach their full potential, that all, especially our senior citizens, need access to affordable health care and prescription drugs, and that our working men and women need decent jobs and affordable housing. During my first term, I worked hard to ensure that education, health care, economic opportunities and public safety issues were addressed at the Legislature.

As the State Representative of the 21st District, it has been an honor and privilege to serve a community that has given my family and I so much. I remain committed to the betterment of our community and State. I pledge to work tirelessly to continue to represent the voters of the 21st District in an accessible, responsive and open way.
